From the desk of Pastor Sue

“Like good stewards of the manifold grace of God, serve one another with whatever gift each of you has received.”

1 Peter 4:10

Pastor Sue Olson

This is truly an exciting time for us here at Long Lake Lutheran and I am so grateful to be a part of it. Thank You Lord!! A new season of Fall programming has begun with Sunday School, Children’s Church, Confirmation, Youth Group, Mission Quilting, Congregational Bonfire, Spaghetti Dinner and Trunk n Treat coming up in October. Look around you and see that God is truly present in the ministries of this church and beyond. I am convinced that God has big plans for us! Thank You Lord!!

Pastor Bob Rusert begins serving as our Interim Lead Pastor as we discern our ministry and staffing needs for the future. Thank You Lord!! We need to look beyond today, at least 5 years into the future to dream and be inspired by the opportunities God is putting before us. A transition team will be formed to begin the work of studying who we are as a church in rural Isanti County, and to whom we are called to minister and serve. Then a call committee will be formed to match the needs of the congregation with the right people. Trust God and trust the process. We want to make sure that everyone’s voice is heard and respected.

I invite you to pray mightily for God’s will to be done. As we work together to serve God, you will be asked to prayerfully consider your current giving of your time, talent and treasures. In 2017, with a membership of 872 (231 giving units or households), we supported a budget of $404,378. That is just under $33.66 per week per giving unit. Unfortunately, we know that approximately 40% of our giving units contribute less than $5.00 per week. That means that some families carry a heavier load. Of course, we understand we all have differing budgets;

some people are in a stronger position to give more. We are thankful for each and every gift, from the smallest to the largest. Your gifts to Long Lake Lutheran Church support a wide variety of ministries along with a beautiful building, staff, and utilities. Think of what we could do with an increased income. If 231 giving units each gave $5 more a week, we could raise our budget by $60,000. Think of how we could grow our ministry.

Ask yourself if God is calling you to grow your giving and make a Statement of Commitment to Long Lake Lutheran Church on Commitment Sunday. We give thanks to God for all He has done for us; we give back to God our first fruits in response to the abundant love and mercy shown to us. Thank you for all you do for our church. Thank you Lord!!

Stewardship is everything I do

After I say I believe!

Youth

Shawna Berg

One fall, when my children were younger, we were driving home from church when I had an interesting conversation with my son. We were talking about the worship service and things we had heard when all of the sudden he asked “Mom, why don’t you and dad ever give any money to the church in the offering?”. I have to admit, I was a little surprised by the question. For many years, and for many reasons my husband and I have chosen to give electronically to the church, and have had our offering taken directly out of our checking account each month. This seemed to be a good model of giving for us as it ensured that we were giving of our “first fruits” and not just from whatever was left over each month. It also helped keep us accountable to our pledge and whatever we had promised to give the church each month. However, I had realized, that although he and I had discussed this plan and this decision, never once had we told our kids about it and now, as we were driving home I was stunned to realize that my son had thought for years that we had just chosen not to give and he couldn’t figure out why. I spent the next few minutes explaining to him that we did give, and that our offering came right out of our bank account each month and went directly to the church. We also spent a significant amount of time talking about the “why”, and why we thought it was important to give. We then had a discussion that when the pledge cards came to our home later that month, that we would all sit down as a family and fill it out together, so that we could all know what our pledge would be and what kind of sacrifices our family would make in order to make the pledge we felt was most appropriate. We decided that we would talk about what things we would intentionally be choosing not to do, so that we could make the intentional choice to support the church with our gifts in the way that we do. Giving back to the church with our gifts of time, talents and money is our way of saying “Thank you, God” for all the gifts that God has first given us.

This conversation, this off the hand comment by my son, got me thinking about a lot of the values and choices that we make as a family that I sometimes don’t fully explain to my children. I take it for granted that they understand why we make the decisions we do. We bring our children to church, and yet don’t always share with them why we feel it is important. We want them to hear the stories in the Bible, yet sometimes have neglected to share with them our own faith stories. We want them to feel like it is important to give back to others by sharing their gifts of time and talents, but we don’t always model that, or tell them why we think it is important when we drag them along to do it. The conversation on the ride home that day, reminded me how much we are missing when we miss out on these conversations with those we love.

Have a conversation with someone you love today about your faith story. What gifts has God given you that you would like to say thank you for? How can you share the gifts you have been given?

STEWARDSHIP

Hello Fall !

Stewardship is everything I

After I say I believe!

It is exciting to see more families at church now that the summer months are ended. It is great to see Sunday School, confirmation, and children's church back in session. Children again learning about what God has given to us and done for us. Thank you Lord !

Whoever will humble himself therefore and become like this little child is greatest in the kingdom of heaven. Matthew 18:4

Children enjoy life. A child can turn work into something fun and be able to enjoy it. We all should have that attitude.

God gave us free will. We in turn need to pray for guidance and wisdom from the Holy Spirit to direct our lives to be a blessing. God gave us His son, Jesus, to take our place. He died on the cross and conquered the devil. Jesus has risen to release our sins. Christ took all our burdens with Him on the cross. Christ is our strength and we can tell the devil to get behind us as Jesus told satan. We have to believe God's timing is perfect in our life. When Christians are trying to accomplish something with God's help, we can get attacked by the devil with putting doubts in our head. The devil doesn't want us to succeed at being positive in our life. We need to quote the bible as Jesus does, "it is written..." and continue to use bible verses to turn the situation around. Satan does not want a successful Christian because that means he is losing. Well, we know the end of the story, Satan will lose the battle and we need to be reminded to keep on keeping on telling the story of our grace and forgiveness given freely by God.

If you haven't found the time to volunteer, maybe you have a talent you don't know you have to share with the youth or small adult group. You can also donate toward a mission of the month, youth ministry, capital fund, or just the general fund. All these areas are returning to God what He already gave us. He gave us life to continue His work here to love and help others. We are doing His purpose here and now. Let the Holy Spirit give you guidance for where your heart is leading you to contribute to God's kingdom. Thank you Lord for the many opportunities to serve you. Thank you, Kathie

CONGREGATIONAL LIFE

"Let us come before Him with thanksgiving... for the Lord is a great God." Psalm 95:2-3

Over 200 people came on Saturday, September 22 to the second annual Artisan Fair at Long Lake. They came to enjoy the work of 37 artisans, and dozens of volunteers who pitched in to put it all together. The atmosphere was filled with laughter, friendly chatter, and anticipation. What a great way to spend a chilly Saturday and even get some Christmas shopping done.

All I could think of to say was: Thank you, Lord for a beautiful Fall day. Thank you, Lord for such amazing talent. Thank you, Lord for excited volunteers. Thank you, Lord for gifted artisans. Thank you, Lord for the yummy aroma of good food. Thank you, Lord for a church in the country that welcomes its neighbors with open arms. Thank you, Lord for the gospel of Christ that is alive and well and filling the hearts and minds of our families with joy and love!

As we begin our Stewardship campaign, what better example of dedicating time, talent and treasure to our Lord than the Artisan Fair which in so many ways said, "We are so grateful for all the gifts with which we have been blessed – we dedicate them to you! Use them for your glory!!!"

This was an event designed as an Outreach ministry to our community and a showcase for Long Lake Lutheran Church. Several people asked about us and commented on the friendliness and welcoming attitude that seemed to be everywhere. Some even said they were looking for a church where they would feel noticed and welcome. Perhaps they'll return. Let's pray for them, and let's pray that we never lose that spirit!

Stewardship is not just about money – never has been. It's about letting every aspect of our daily lives be gifted to God. Ask Him what He wants you to do for Him today. He'll always answer that prayer! Let's just start listening! You'll be amazed at what He has in mind for you!

Christ's blessings, Margaret McBride

GriefShare

Healing from your grief is not easy. It is a long, sometimes painful process. Don't try to go it alone. GriefShare is a grief recovery support group where you will find caring people who will understand the issues you face.

Many grieving people find they are only beginning the work of healing when friends or family have returned to their daily life routines. Too often people, including Christians, tend to stuff their grief instead of allowing it to do the God-given work for which it is intended. Don't allow fear of what others may think to keep you from what could help you. Confidentiality is very much a part of this program.

Your bereavement experience may be recent or not so recent. You will find encouragement, comfort and help in grieving the death of a spouse, child, parent, sibling, other family member or friend. No matter what the cause of your loved one's death, this is an opportunity to be around people who understand what you are feeling. You will learn how to recognize the symptoms of being stuck in grief and that you do not need to live in bondage to certain emotions. You will learn valuable information about facing your new normal in life and renewing your hope for the future. Grief-related books/materials are available for participants to borrow.

GriefShare is held on Thursday evenings at 6:00 p.m. in the Conference Room.

Cost: none

Child care: no

The next Lunch Group will be at Russell's on the Lake at Big Lake (on Hwy. 10) at 11:30 on Monday, October 29. If you want to ride out with the group, meet at church at 10:45. If we have enough ladies, we will most likely take the church van.

We are starting to collect used coats in cooperation with the Pilgrim Cleaners "Coats for Kids." Actually all sizes are accepted. We need to have everything gathered to take over to Elk River by October 11. There will be a box by the right-hand coat rack at the entrance to the fellowship hall.

Watch for the Harvest Table in the church narthex to gather food donations for folks who need help at this time of the year. Some people come to our church during the week looking for help.

A.A. Step By Step

Step Ten is Steps Four through Nine applied daily. I have heard others refer to Steps Ten through Twelve as 'maintenance steps'. I call them growth steps. No matter how old I get, these last three steps let me continue to challenge myself. Sometimes the healthiest thing I can do for myself is to admit I'm not perfect.

One of the most quoted lines in the AA Big Book appears on the discussion on Step Ten: "We are not cured of alcoholism. What we really have is a daily reprieve contingent on the maintenance of our spiritual condition". It is no easy task to change the behavior and thinking of a lifetime, even when I want to change. The Tenth Step allows me to be aware of sliding back into faulty thinking. I don't have to beat myself up over it. I just need to do what I can to make it right.

The Tenth Step asks us to 'promptly' admit we are wrong. A prompt admission is more effective than a delayed one in helping us acknowledge our negative behavior and to change it. A prompt admission is also more effective in defusing the anger that our inappropriate behavior has caused others. An essential part of understanding the amend process is to recognize that complete amend includes NOT repeating the same behavior.

Step Ten is a combination of taking an inventory regularly and promptly admitting when we are wrong. Some of us are tempted to ignore the inventory part and go right to the admitting we were wrong part. We are not working the Tenth Step unless we are doing both and probably will continue to make the same mistakes unless we work the step the way it was designed. We must work Step Ten daily till it becomes a habit.

Our personal inventory at the end of the day is a form of balance sheet. That means we review not only what we did wrong during the day but what we did right. When we take inventory we will want to look for many things. We can search out feelings that need our attention. We can look for low self-esteem creeping back in, but the critical part of our inventory is what we are doing right and on all the good around us.

The AA Twelve and Twelve suggests, when in doubt (about what to do) we can always pause, saying "Not my will, but Thine be done".

Take time for prayer and meditation. We do this Step to stay on track, not to punish ourselves or be under constant criticism. The Tenth Step is a daily application of the Golden Rule: Treat others as you would like to be treated.
